Maryville City Schools Foundation Receives Memorial Contribution from the Maryville High School Class of 1969

Maryville, Tenn. — The Maryville City Schools Foundation (MCSF) announced today that it received a memorial contribution from the Maryville High School Class of 1969. The contribution was made at the 40th reunion of the Class of '69. Becky Greene Swann presented the contribution to Barbara Jenkins, executive director, Maryville City Schools Foundation, in memory of former classmates Libby Byrd ▪ Robert Callaway ▪ Jackie Campbell ▪ Lee Cowan ▪ Jackie Elkins ▪ Jim Gregory ▪ Randall Hannum ▪ Bobbie Irwin ▪ David King ▪ Roy Kirkpatrick ▪ Randall McCulloch ▪ Mac Pate ▪ LouAnn Womack

With each reunion The Class of 1969 has chosen to make a memorial contribution for their classmates. "This year, after a wonderful tour of the high school building, we were positive the Foundation was the appropriate place for our combined donations," said Swann. She continued by saying, "We are proud to contribute to this system which gave us all a great Foundation for life." Another classmate, Kim Rickard Soltero stated, "the tradition of quality education and exemplary extra curricular activities continue at Maryville High School and the Maryville City Schools Foundation is very worthy of our on going support."

The Maryville City Schools Foundation is honored by the memorial contribution and thanks the Maryville High School Class of 1969 for their support of the Foundation while remembering their classmates. The contribution will go to further the mission of the foundation and support programs like the 21st Century Classrooms in Maryville City Schools.

Memorial donations and honorariums may be mailed to the Maryville City Schools Foundation, 833 Lawrence Ave., Maryville, TN 37803 or contact the office at 865-982-7121 or mcsf@ci.maryville.tn.us.

About MCSF:

Since 1991, Maryville City Schools Foundation has served as an independent community-based organization formed exclusively for educational purposes.

The Foundation is at work continuously to create a vital link between private sector companies and individuals and the school system, increasing the understanding of and appreciation for public education, promoting community involvement in student learning, and securing a strong commitment from business leaders to help provide materials and resources essential to quality education.

Private sector donations allow the Foundation to assist in providing new cutting-edge programs for the teachers and students of Maryville City Schools. MCSF headquarters is located at 833 Lawrence Avenue in Maryville, Tenn. More information can be gained concerning the foundation's function and contributions at www.maryvillecityschoolsfoundation.org or by calling (865) 982-7121.
